WHAT MAKES US DIFFERENT FROM OTHERS

We work on Creating New Value by Anticipating the Future Needs of Customers We identify and realize our customers' future needs and dreams, even those that they themselves may not yet be aware of. We can accomplish this goal by paying careful attention to changes in social trends and conducting extensive marketing to win the hearts and minds of customers. We believe that a company can grow and develop only if it possesses world-leading technologies.

Along with increasing our market share and creating new markets, we must devote ourselves to strengthening our technological foundation since this enables us to continuously launch highly differentiated products, high value-added products, solutions-type products, and products with new applications through which we can make contributions to society.

We must strive to maximize our corporate value by thoroughly implementing management based on the mandates of capitalist philosophy. Enhanced corporate value offers us a greater range of management options, enabling us to realize new growth and making possible the establishment of a stable yet flexible management foundation. Moreover, enhanced corporate value provides increased investment opportunities through which to realize our future dreams.

We aim to systematically foster human resources appropriate to the particular characteristics of each country and region; promote the appointment of local human resources who understand our philosophy, traditions and culture, and who can play a part in Group management; and promote exchanges of human resources regardless of company or country.
